Cireson

Trailblazers of Microsoft Service Management

We assisted Cireson in setting up a sleek and highly functional website to help its visitors understand the organization's scope of offerings in as frictionless a manner as possible. Primary features of this site include a navigation bar, links to social media handles, Cireson's career page as well as the blog section, and a CTA button in the hero section that leads to a pop-up form. One of the most attractive and noticeable features of this site are its multiple hover animation elements. Besides consolidating the page's visual appeal, it infuses a strand of interactivity into the site, thereby allowing Cireson to deliver a superior user experience.

App Metric

Empowering your business with better solutions

Developing a website for AppMetric was truly an enjoyable experience for us. Courtesy of its unfussy and navigation-friendly design, all the information presented on this page is extremely accessible to the visitors. The CTA buttons present in the hero section of this site function as anchor links, enabling users to jump directly to those particular sections. The menus in the navigation bar function in the same manner too. Asked to create a single page website by this client, we focused on making it functional while keeping it extremely simplistic. Happy with our deliverables, AppMetric have now hired us to handle their

Guardian

Enhancing the quality of your life with innovative solutions and high-quality products'

Working on building GNC's website was a wonderfully enriching experience for us. This page is peppered throughout with various visual elements including high-quality pictures, videos, and icons which makes it extremely appealing to behold. The page contains a navigation bar, under which most of the menus present various drop-down options, a search bar, a profile page button, and a slew of embedded links pertaining to organization details, support, and customer service. Additionally, links to GNC's social media handles have always been included. There's a minimalist sign-up form as well for visitors who'd want to subscribe to GNC's communications. Despite containing multiple content sections and elements, the layout of the website is not cluttered and offers smooth navigation to the visitors.

Boddess

Adding a new perspective to your definition of beauty

The website that we created for Boddess is not only highly functional and responsive but also accurately represents its brand ethos courtesy of its visual flair. It contains a navigation menu where every single item gets highlighted as you hover upon them. Other noteworthy elements of this website is its hero carousel, new product launch section, banner ads, bestselling products section, and the editors' picks segment. It also has a signup form and several embedded links catalogued under four sections- "About Boddess" (relevant details about the organization), "My Boddess" (relevant details regarding the customer's profile), "Help & FAQ", and "Top Categories". At the topmost part of the website, there's even a link for visitors to download Boddess' mobile application.

Get Kart

Shopping made easy like never before

The website that we built for GetKart ticks all the checkboxes an ecommerce website should- a simple and user-friendly layout, images of the highest resolution, scannable content, and easy to spot product categories. For the visitor's convenience, there's a hamburger menu at the top-left of the website, in the navigation bar. To help someone easily locate a product, a distinct search bar has been placed right at the top of the page. To spur visitors into taking action, there's a dedicated section that highlights GetKart's USPs.

Essentials By Nature

All-natural beauty products to make you one with nature

In the website that we created for Essentials by Nature, we decided to have the hero carousel occupy the entire above-the-fold segment so that the visitors get acquainted with the business' offerings as soon as they land on the page, without having to scroll any further. All the CTA buttons on the page have an hover interactivity with the intention of making them engaging and visually captivating, thereby nudging visitors to interact with them. Within the first few seconds of surfing on the website, a sign-up form pops up on the screen. Two features that elevate the functionality of this website is the "Our Locations" section, that allows visitor's to search for their nearest Essentials by Nature retail store and the testimonials segment.

Nolah Mattress

Ensuring nothing gets in the way of you and a good night's sleep

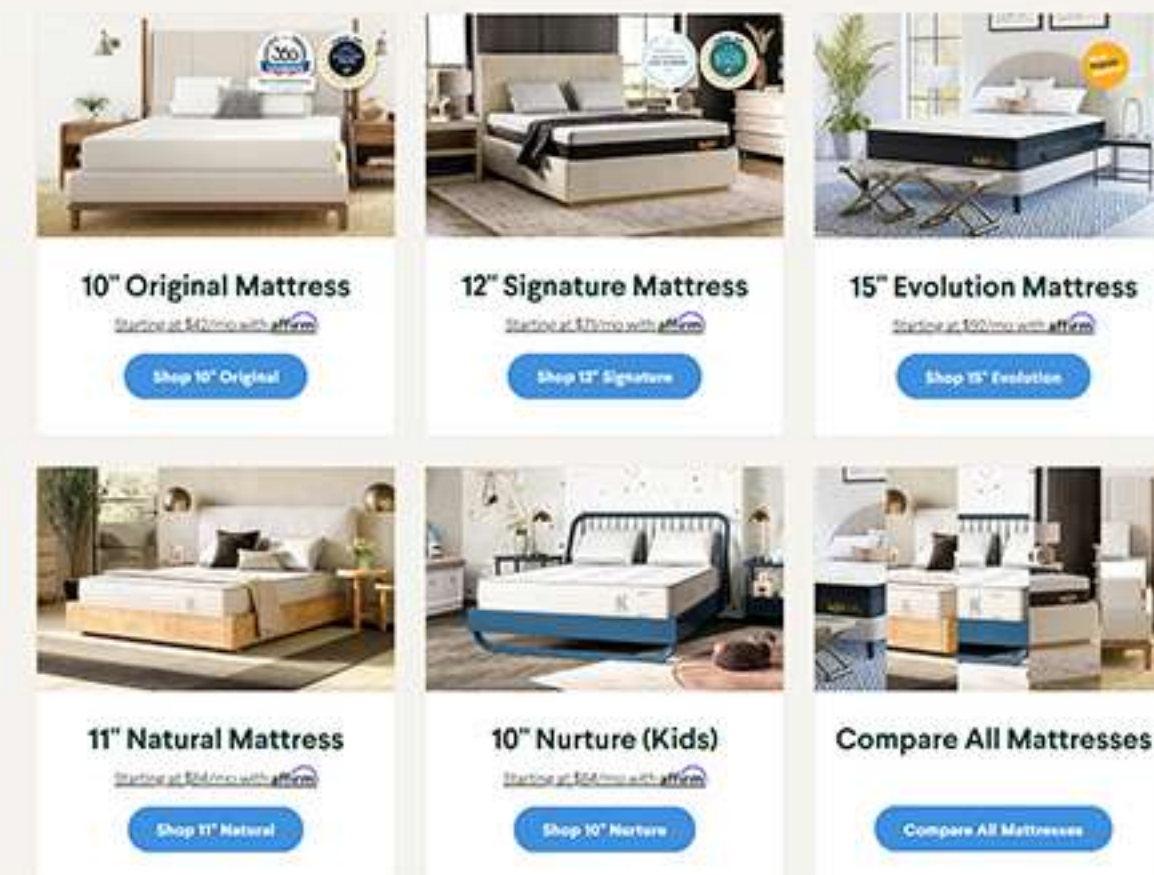

Creating Nolah's website was a thoroughly delightful experience. Here, we have allowed visitors to access the "About" page from the navigation bar itself so that if anyone wants to read up about the brand's philosophy and USPs before checking out their offerings, they'd easily be able to do so. Here, we have used color contrast as a means of dividing the different content sections with a view of improving the user experience. The topmost section of the website contains an countdown timer that instills a sense of scarcity and prompts the visitors into immediately taking action. The page also has a live chatbot, sign-up menu, and several embedded links that guide visitors to Nolah's offerings, company information, product benefits, and customer support.

Award-Winning Sleep Awaits

Choose from five amazing mattresses made 100% right here in the USA. Our mattresses are entirely free from heat-trapping Memory Foam chemicals and therefore sleep cooler, provide 4x better pressure relief on hips, back and shoulders, while also being 300% more durable.

The Nolah Original 10 ranks No. 1 for

Blume

Introducing the next generation of skin care

In this website that we created for Blume, we attempted to match the page's color palette with that of the company's products in a bid to craft an immersive experience for the visitors. The brand logo in the navigation bar has a hover interactivity which gives it an interesting visual spin. The top-most portion of the website not just informs visitors about Blume's latest sale but also shares a discount code with them. In the testimonial section, we have add the customer's face along with their review to make the social proof section absolutely convincing. Embedded links in the site cover Blume's products, information surrounding both the company as well as its offerings, customer support, and contact details. Links to the company's social media handles have also been included.

Himalay Travels

Helping you discover Uttarakhand, one marvel at a time

Identifying the fact that the first thing visitors would want to check upon visiting a travel company's page are its various plans, we included an enquiry form in the hero section itself while creating The Himalaya Travels' website. Right at the very top of the page, we have added the company's contact details, and buttons that allow visitors to access the same. Every package highlighted on the page includes three CTA buttons- two of them allow visitors to get in touch with Himalaya travels over WhatsApp and mobile phone (in that order) and the last one generates a pop-up enquiry form. Delighted with our efforts, they have now hired us to handle their marketing too.

Coffee Wale

Start your day right with the perfect cup of coffee

The hero carousel for the website we created for Coffeewale has been curated carefully to showcase its products (both the vending machines and the premix powders) and what you can make using them. Here, a navigation menu has been provided at the bottom of the website as well in case visitors happen to miss the one located at the top. Links to Coffeewale's social media handles have also been added. The website contains a WhatsApp chat button clicking on which redirects visitors to the company's official WhatsApp account.

Laxmi Diamond

A diamond for the shine that's within you

In the website that we created for Laxmi Diamond, we have infused an element of fluidity into it by having elements float in, both, in a horizontal and vertical fashion as one scrolls down. This is further complemented by the presence of animated elements at various portions all throughout the page. The overall design of the website has been kept minimalistic on purpose to accentuate the sophistication that one would inherently associate with a diamond company. Here, negative space has been used as visual dividers to further the seamless look of the page. The links to Laxmi Diamond's social media handles and its mobile application (both Google Play Store and App Store) have also been added to the website.

Landing Page for PPC/Google Ads

Learn Python and build an impactful resume

We were delighted to help Internshala Trainings with creating their landing page. Here, we kept the most critical details of their Python course along with the enrollment form in the above-the-fold section. The content in the page has been arranged in a zig zag layout to promote greater readability. The page has also been provided with a FAQ section containing different tabs covering diverse topics, thereby making sure the visitor's queries are addressed effectively.

Landing Page for PPC/Google Ads

Electrify your business with pixel-perfect design templates

Given the nature of Sellfaast's offerings, we tried to incorporate a sense of visual dynamism while designing their landing page. We were able to do so by having a lot of elements sliding into the frame, either horizontally or vertically, as one scrolls down the page. The most distinct feature of this landing page is its primary CTA button that appears constantly on the screen as a visitor scrolls from top to bottom.
